SEA-SERPENT PUZZLE

The South American sea captain who came to port the other day with the description of a sea serpent which followed the ship for days like a friendly dog, says that at night the monster curled itself into a ball, and, sleeping peacefully, rolled in the wake, of the vessel. Here is Capt. Fibb's faithful sketch of the sea serpent; and he claims that if you will cut the figure into two pieces of the same shape and size they will fit together to form a perfect ball, and thus prove that
